OUR STORY

iATHLETIC FOOTBALL

We design and deliver premium performance football teamwear for clubs, academies, and communities across Australia.

Founded by former professional athletes and built on the same standards that have made iAthletic one of Australia's leading team sport apparel providers, our football division is led by Carl Valeri — former Socceroo, bringing an authentic understanding of the game into every product decision, from concept through to fit.

A team built to deliver iAthletic operates from a 4,000m² facility in Thornbury, Victoria, with a team of over 70 people across design, production, warehouse, and account management — giving us the scale and local capability to deliver consistently, even under tight seasonal timelines.

Servicing over 140 clubs nationally across our sports portfolio, we also hold the exclusive Australian teamwear license for Umbro.

What we stand for Reliability isn't just a value statement to us — it's the standard we hold ourselves accountable to. When we commit to a delivery date, we deliver, because we know clubs and families are planning their season around it.

And as for the product, it speaks for itself: fit, feel, and function is what players notice the moment they put it on.

That is what we are known for.

EXAMPLES

Sublimation is a printing process where dye is turned into gas under heat and pressure, allowing it to bond permanently with the fibres of the fabric. Unlike traditional printing methods that sit on top of the material, sublimated designs become part of the fabric itself — meaning they won't crack, peel, or fade, even after repeated washing and heavy match-day wear.

This process allows for unlimited colours, intricate patterns, and full-garment designs (including sleeves and side panels), making it ideal for custom teamwear where bold branding, sponsor logos, and unique kit designs matter. The result is a lightweight, breathable finish with vibrant, long-lasting colour.
